Dedication

To Mrs. Mildred Monroe, teacher of English at Tenney High School, we lovingly dedicate our yearbook. As class advisor in our junior year, she gave generously of her time, and effort to organize, direct, and supervise activities that were advantageous to our class. Her guidance granted to whoever came to her for help, and her outstanding competence as a teacher have won her the respect and admiration of our class, the faculty, and all who know her.

The snow that falls upon the ground
Remains for days and days,
But wait, and you are sure to see
It slowly melt away,
A day-dream comes a-creeping in
Like snow on misty nights
But wait, and see how quietly
It passes out of sight,
Now what about a memory
It lasts for years and years,
A memory of high school days,
Classes, games, cheers,
Now think, will such a memory stay,
Or like the snow soon melt away,
It's bound to wander out of sight
Like fog upon a misty night,
But wait, this yearbook's here to see
That every joy and memory,
Of high school never fades away
Like fog upon a misty night or,
Snow upon a sunny day.

Now that our four years at Tenney High have come to an end, we, the class of 1961, are ready to go out into the world and face its realities. The education that has been offered to us and the experiences that we have shared should help us to overcome any barrier which confronts us as we pursue our respective goals in life.

Let us all strive to be among the strong, who will heed the signs and obey the rules along the highway of opportunity, happiness, prosperity, and success.

Daniel F. Moynihan

Bruno: May I have this dance?
Fenway: But of course!

This is silly!

But the rifle's too heavy, sir.

There seems to be a peculiar smell in here.

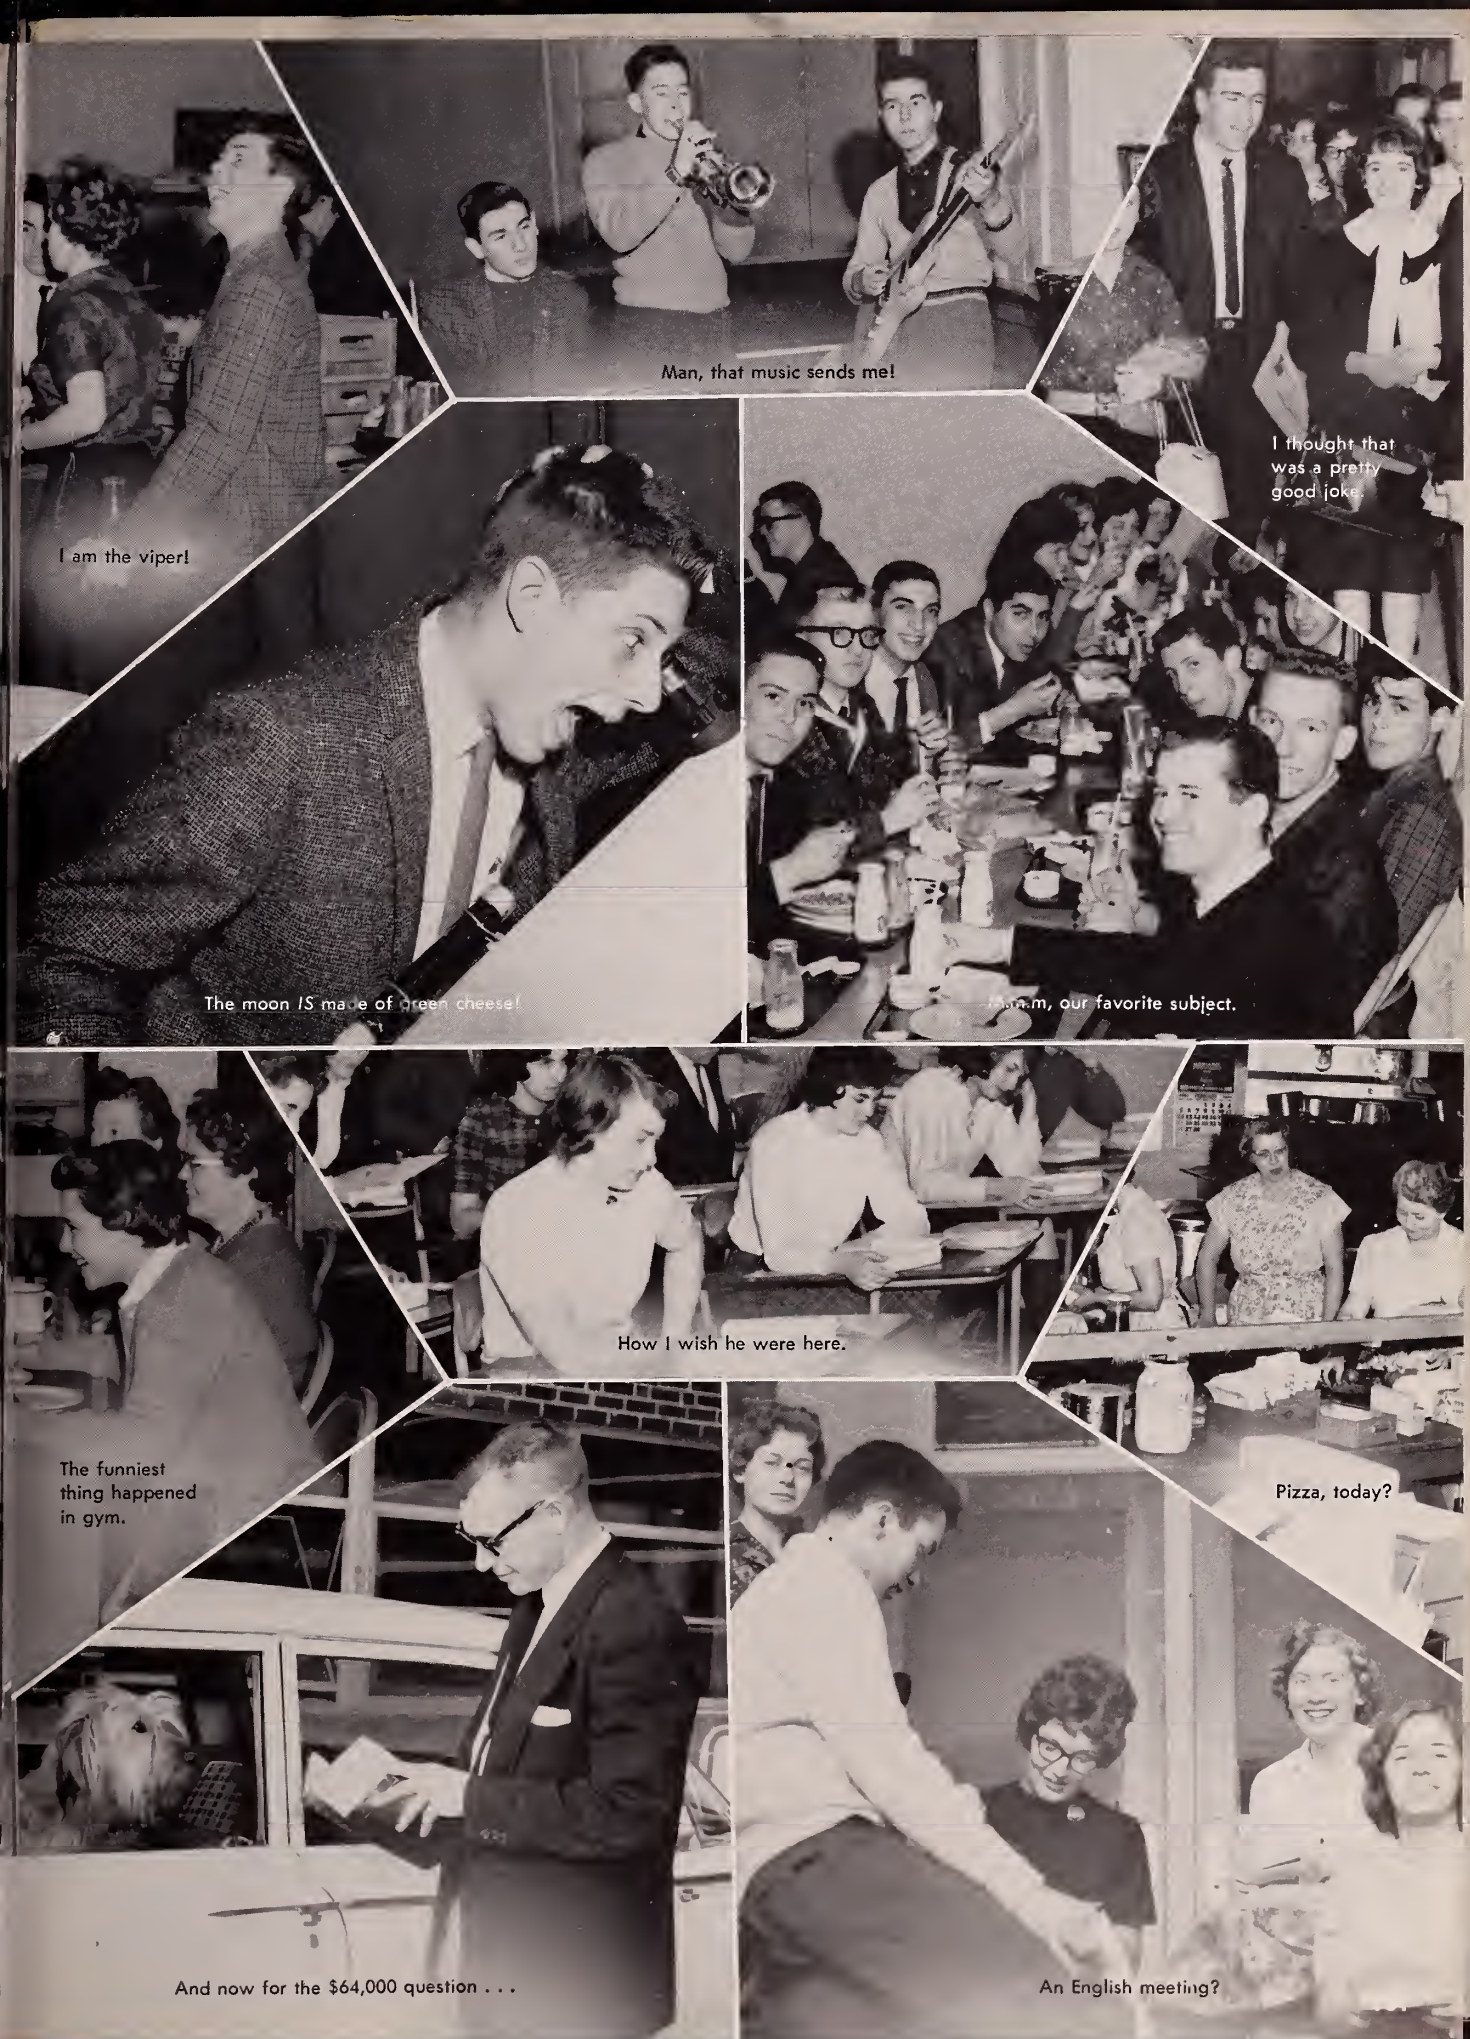
Angela: I think they're taking our picture.
Elaine: Just keep walking.

If women can drive . . .

We study soooo hard.

Our South American visitors.

And girls are always supposed to be on a diet?



Man, that music sends me!
I am the viper!
I thought that was a pretty good joke.
The moon IS made of green cheese!
Mmm.m, our favorite subject.
How I wish he were here.
The funniest thing happened in gym.
Pizza, today?
And now for the $64,000 question . . .
An English meeting?

Receives Grid Honors

JOE BOREN

Joe Boren, Methuen's top notch center, was chosen on the Boston Globe's All-Scholastic Football Team on November 27, 1960, Class C first team. There are 45 high schools in Class C competition.

On February 20, 1961, Joe Boren was chosen by the Wigwam-Wisemen of America 1961 National High School All-American Football Team. Out of 250, who made this team, Joe is one of the 44 to be invited to participate in the 13th annual Prep All-American Grid game. Joe, our 6' 1", 222 pound center, is the first Methuen player in the school's History to be chosen. We are all mighty proud of him!

TENNEY HIGH SCHOOL SONG

The call to advanced and broader fields
Is ringing loud and clear
With hope and expectation high
We answer without fear.

The work we've done, the truths we've learned
Will bring success we know—
Undaunted, firm we'll ever be
As toward our goal we go.

Farewell to thee, dear Tenney High
We'll always remember thee,
For all we've gained within your walls
We'll always cherish thee.

Class History

We have now reached the end of the road as far as our high school education is concerned. If we haven't learned anything in these four years, I guess we never will. In a few short days, the whole-hearted and generous guidance that we all accepted so matter-of-factly will no longer be ours to seek, and we will face the future standing on our own two feet. However, before we continue on our individual ways, let us take this particular time to look back at some of the wonderful memories which have made these last four years so enjoyable. We shall skip over anything disagreeable as if it never happened, even though we have all had our ups and downs at one time or another.

We can all remember that beautiful, sunny morning in September when we first entered Tenney High School. There we were—young, innocent, and eager, not knowing what to expect. At first, we were quite apprehensive and shy. However, that feeling didn't stay with us too long. We were determined to launch our careers with courage and fortitude.

We followed the pattern set by the upper classes and proceeded to elect class officers. This procedure was thrilling, as we felt so grown-up with the privilege of voting. Our final selection for president was Raymond Haddad; his cronies for the year were Vincent Cottone, vice-president; Norma Leveille, secretary; and Carolyn Crawford, treasurer. Our student council representatives were three girls, Brenda Hajjar, Susan Hajjar, and Sandra Dietrich. You notice that the boys were not represented at these all-important meetings. Is it possible that the girls had more courage or else had more experience in standing up for their rights?

The senior class honored us with an official welcome. The eventful Freshman Reception, our first reception in high school, was very exciting. With the wearing of "Mouseketeer ears," it seemed as though we had been transported back to the naive days of our childhood; but we knew better; we were diplomatically humoring our hosts. Following the grand march, we were delighted to learn that Stephen Graham and Polly Ann Sanborn had been selected as king and queen of our freshman class.

Since freshmen seldom have an opportunity to take an active part in the world-shaking affairs of upperclassmen, let us skip gently over the rest of those days of our obscurity and review our next big step, namely, our sophomore year. We began our sophomore year with practically the same crew at the helm. There was Raymond Haddad again as president; Vincent Cottone once more as vice-president; and Carolyn Crawford back in her same office; but we did have one new officer—Gayle Keaney—serving as secretary. We again sent three girls—Brenda Hajjar, Sandra Dietrich, and Patricia McCarthy—to the student council meetings. Maybe it was on account of their gift of gab. We won't question that now.

As for the football season of that year—it is really worth telling about. It was the first time in Tenney High School's history that a football team was undefeated—quite an accomplishment, mind you—nine wins and no losses. It all came about because we sophomores yelled ourselves hoarse at the games. This gave the players the inspiration to win. We know that for a fact.

Toward the close of our sophomore year, the halls of Tenney High School were shaken by the noisy outbreak of a simulated war in miniature. It was ring time and everyone was opinionated. We all knew which ring was the best choice, but to prove it to our fellow classmates was a feat. After much deliberation, we finally settled on a ring, to the great chagrin of many friends. Those with whom we were bosom pals no longer sought our friendship. Of course, we knew all along that it was just a temporary estrangement, and we would soon be friends once more.

At the conclusion of our sophomore year, exciting things began to happen for some of us. Elaine Comparone and Michael Watman were presented with the D.A.R. Good Citizen medals at Senior Chapel. These two students were the first ones from our class to be awarded a medal for outstanding citizenship.

When we were back in September as full-fledged juniors, what a thrill it was to be able to look down on the poor little freshmen! By this time we ourselves were a well-organized tribe under the leadership of Him-Good-Friendly Chief Daniel Moynihan. The Chief's council included his right hand warrior, Stephen Graham; the note-taking squaw, Judith Salmon; and the wampum-holding squaw, Carolyn Crawford. This time the squaws once more asserted themselves and sent four females to the tribal council. They apparently felt that if three had been good the year before, four would be even better this year. Those lucky squaws were Virginia Burgess, Brenda Hajjar, Donna Chateauneuf, and Kathleen Eichhorn.

At an impressive ceremony in April, twenty-two juniors were inducted as charter members of the National Honor Society. The inductees were Susan Alt, Deborah Bovernick, Gail Collins, Elaine Comparone, Carolyn Crawford, Marcia Eaton, Kathleen Eichhorn, Judith Garland, Susan Hajjar, Holly Jones, Katherine Ketler, Ann Marie Pietraszek, Hazel Rotondo, Ruby St. Clair, Justine Stocks, Nancy Wirth, Clifford Chadwick, Alexander Freedman, Mark Jones, Guy Pitochelli, Allen Potvin, and Michael Watman, who later became president of the society.

The junior year brought honors to many members of our class. We were elated when we heard that Judy Salmon, a junior, had been selected as captain of the cheerleaders, an honor usually reserved for a senior. At the annual Cadet Field Day exhibition Raymond Haddad won the Patnaude medal, the highest medal awarded to a cadet. Allen Potvin and Michael Watman were selected to attend Boys' State, while Kathleen Eichhorn had the honor of being selected for Girls' State. The D.A.R. Good Citizen medals went to two deserving classmates, Patricia Hill and Clifford Chadwick.

As we finished the junior year, we all silently vowed that next year would be our year of years. We would be the exalted seniors and everyone would know it, or else. Excitement ran high in every competition. Every sport became a do-or-die affair. First, it was the football season with Stephen Andrews and Ronald Bretton as co-captains. They were a team by themselves. One of our outstanding players, Joseph Boren, was chosen for the National All-American Football Squad. Although we did lose a few games by a very small margin, our spirits soared. We could never have managed without Captain Judy Salmon and her lively, coordinated cheerleaders. Leading the band down the field during the half-time of every football game was Captain Gail Collins and her well-organized group of twirlers—the majorettes. Before the annual clash with our long-time rival, Andover High School, the football team chose lovely Angela Catalano as their queen. The hockey team also had its captain—capable Nancy Wirth.

With our senior year came the responsibility for our school publications. The guidance of Advisor Mr. Lister and Editor-in-Chief Angela Catalano was much appreciated in the numerous tight spots which the yearbook staff encountered while compiling the 1961 Torch. Under the direction of Miss Doran and co-editors Ann Marie Pietraszek and Suzanne McKenzie, the Blue and White went to press in order to meet the deadline of its first edition.

In October the Cadet Hop was held with the cooperation of Drill Instructor Rene J. Morrisette, who presented the officers and top sergeants with their ranks. Chosen to lead the corps were Colonel Alexander Freedman, Lieutenant Colonel Raymond Haddad, and Majors Kevin Griffin and Stephen Andrews. If any of the marchers had two left feet, they nonetheless looked glamorous to the girls.

After weeks of preparation opening night of the senior class play—The Perfect Idiot—finally arrived. The second floor hall of Tenney appeared to be a small-sized Broadway with such stars running around as Edward Charest, Elaine Comparone, Vincent Cottone, Carolyn Crawford, Elizabeth Dublin, Niall Fleming, Raymond Haddad, Susan Hajjar, Gayle Keaney, Rosanne Levesque, Norma Leveille, Gary Perry, Leo Root, George Sabbagh, and John Tobia.

The winter season was highlighted by many fine basketball games. Leading the boys' team were two hard-working players, Ronald Bretton and Clifford Chadwick, while Marilyn Jacklin and Susan Hajjar captained the girls' team.

The winds of March blew excitement and activity through Tenney. The month began with the twirling of cadet rifles at the fifty-fith annual Military Ball. To add to the color and formality of this military affair, Carolyn Crawford presided as Cadet Queen with Patricia Jennings and Polly Ann Sanborn as attendants. On Saint Patrick's Day, the actor of actors, John O'Tobia, added his own distinct Irish touch to the Tenney High School Talent Show. The senior class was well-represented by many fine acts. Also in March, the first Science Fair at which every student of science was required to present an exhibit was held in the school gymnasium. The seniors were fortunate to have four winners in the top five places. The first place winner was Barbara Murad with a display on types of blood. The other senior winners were Holly Jones, Ruby St. Clair, and Alexander Freedman.

In the spring many of our classmates had a chance to display their leadership ability. The captains of the spring sports were as follows: Clifford Chadwick, baseball team; Murray Smith, track team; Raymond Lavigne, golf team; and Patricia Hill, softball team. Gary Perry was our representative to the Student Government Day in Boston. The D.A.R. Good Citizenship award for the senior year went to Kathleen Eichhorn, while the American Legion School awards went to Gail Collins and Clifford Chadwick.

Of course, we could not have had such a successful year without the untiring efforts of our president, Daniel Moynihan; vice-president, Richard Hertrich; and secretary, Donna Chateauneuf. For taking such good care of our money, Carolyn Crawford had been re-elected to her fourth year as treasurer. Brenda Hajjar, having served her fourth year on student council, had been elected president of that body. Gayle Keaney, Patricia McCarthy, Clifford Chadwick, and Murray Smith had been the other senior members.

At an assembly held the latter part of our senior year, the graduation honors were announced. Allen Potvin was awarded the honor of valedictorian; Marcia Eaton, salutatorian; Susan Hajjar, honor essayist; and Susan Alt, class day orator. Holly and Mark Jones were selected to give the prophecy; Ruby St. Clair and Clifford Chadwick, the will; and Kathleen Eichhorn and Alexander Freedman, the history.

The final social event of our high school career was the senior prom, beautifully decorated under the direction of Mr. Melia as art director and Mr. Russell as class advisor. Sayonara was the theme, and the gymnasium was decorated as a Japanese garden complete with oriental Buddha. The graceful racemes of the wisteria further contributed to the authentic Japanese effect.

Now, after four years of molding our characters and developing our minds, we shall go our separate ways. No matter where our paths may lead, the memories of these years and their influence upon us will be with us always.

Class Prophecy

Time: 1971
Place: New York City

Holly: Well, Mark, now that you're back in the states what do you have to say for yourself?

Mark: I see that you're still as ugly as ever, Holly. It's too bad that I had to leave Heidelberg University so soon. I really enjoyed my stay there and I shall certainly miss all those German frauleins. Just think, after one year's internship I begin to practice medicine and shall start raking in the money.

Holly: Good for you! I'm teaching biology now and I just like it, especially when the pupils cringe as they are dissecting their frogs. Several of your classmates are teaching at the same school. Julie Chadwick is teaching solid analytic geometry, Gayle Keaney, civics; Gerry Tomaselli, advanced physics; Rosanne Levesque, driver education; Norma Leveille, college algebra, and Donna Chateauneuf, geometry. Ed Graham is the principal and Steve Graham is the assistant. Eddie Charest, Sue Fitzpatrick, Suzanne McKenzie, Bill Mullen, Justine Stocks and Carolyn Crawford went back to Methuen to teach. They heard that the teachers receive marvelous pays there.

Mark: It will probably surprise you to learn that Angela Catalano and Nancy Wirth are medical technicians and Kathy Ketler, Elsa Gale, Barbara Murad, and Joyce Takesian are lab technicians at the Mayo Clinic where I plan to intern. Pat Charlesworth, Janet Cleary, Carol Androski, Gail Collins, and Sandi Dietrich are nurses at the Mayo Clinic also. I understand that Harvey Cook is seen quite often at the hospital after the girls have finished a case; he's the undertaker.

Holly: I didn't realize so many were working at the clinic. Judy Garland, Beverly Reuter, Donna Nelson, Mal Jacklin, Carolyn Russell, and Ann Pietraszek are registered nurses at the Massachusetts General Hospital. Nancy Ingalls is doing occupational therapeutic work. Did you see any of our former classmates in Europe?

Mark: Yes, I did. I met Doug Waites, Niall Fleming, and Linda Greenwood in Switzerland. The three of them are going to be ski instructors and Niall is going to be teaching people how to fall correctly. Sue Alt, Pat McCarthy, Judy Salmon, and Susan Hajjar were on their way to the French Riviera when I saw them at an airport in Paris. They looked rather pallid from the poor air in those Paris coffee houses. Steve Andrews won the Irish Sweepstakes and is spending his time in Paris to avoid paying the U.S. taxes. Louis Saab, Kenny Sheipe, and Charlotte Whiteside, the three millionaires, have invested their money in a foreign auto factory—they are the manufacturers of the Russian Edsel. While vacationing in Rome, I ran into Joyce Malisos and Betty Eliet who are working in the U.S. Embassy. I didn't run into them very hard though, they only demolished the front end of my Ferrari. In Rome, I also met Lenny Donovan, who works for an airline company, and Ray Michaud, his co-pilot. Actually all Ray does is scare the starlings off the strip before Lenny's Electra takes off. Linda Bellmore, Brenda Bonacorsi, and Sue Dietrich are airline hostesses for the same company. George Skaff, who flew me across the Atlantic, is a pilot for TWA. He surely knows how to handle a plane; I doubt that anyone could have made a better crash landing. Brenda Gordon, Sharon Mills, and Jackie Hurrell are stewardesses for TWA also.

Holly: I never expected you to see so many of our classmates in Europe. Did you know that a new office building is being built in Methuen? Carl "money-bags" Tearno, the president of the First National Bank of Boston, is lending the money to Al Freedman, Larry Erban, and Donald Chase, who will be the owners. Dick Bogannam, Robert Gouette, Stephen Smith, Ken Downey, John Pagliuso, and Dick Davis designed the building. It's too bad though that they made a mistake and put the basement on the second floor; it may make things quite difficult, especially with the sewerage system. Paul Gallo, Kevin Griffin, and Ron Reinhold are the architectural engineers. John Glyzinski, Guy Pitochelli, and Ray Lavigne are their assistants. The head electrician is Dick Marquis. He must have mixed the plans with those of the prison because all the aluminum lawn chairs are wired and have seat straps. Many of our classmates are going to be fortunate enough to have offices in this wonderful building. Bruce Weymouth is planning to have a music studio along with Louis Armstrong. Allen Potvin, now a civil engineer, will have an office on the 100th floor. He is disturbed for he will need a pressurized suit and oxygen because of the high altitude. Hazel Rotondo, who has had a good deal of practice writing 500-word essays, and Ruby St. Clair plan to have an office on the 18th floor. They will write articles for HELP, MAD, and other popular magazines. On the 4th floor Al Fielding, Marilyn Jessie, and James Perry plan to open a modern art studio. Richard Galarneau will be working for them as a photographer. In Lawrence there is a new dental clinic where David Begg, John Frederico, and Ray Haddad have their offices. Doris Dion, a comedienne on the Steve Allen Show, was seen going into the clinic. Pat Akulonis, Ann Waring, and Sandy Brown were also seen going in one of the offices. Next to the dentists' offices is Sunny Esperian's hairdressing shop where Marcia Eaton, a youth director, Arleen Dubois, Francis Patti, Joan Perry, and Pauline Peront spend a great deal of time. In the basement is a huge gym where Ton Grasso takes time out of work with his wife's permission to play a little basketball. Joe Boren, Dan Moynihan, and Murray Smith are the gym instructors. Among the successful businessmen who often go there to work out are Mike Grieco, Ray Schoff, Bill Martelle, Don ald Banker, William Berkheiser, and Bob Savastano. Steve Graham and Dick Apovian, a public accountant—he always said he liked to work with figures—have been boxing in the ring together. Frank Wood, Dick Loeschner, and Richard Therrian often take time out of their post-graduate college work to keep in shape. Sharon Rogers and Chicky Kusnerski have a women's gym class. Louise Gosselin, Becky Packer, Elaine Dubois, and Irene Dubois were seen taking instructions from the gym teachers to keep their girlish figures. A couple of secretaries make an occasional visit. They are Maureen Callahan, Judy Eaton, Barbara Fletcher, Jean Garneau, Barbara Graichan, Sheila Hadley, Carol Hicks, Pat Hill, Jean Homsey, Pat Hume, Arleen Linehan, Elinor Messina, Maureen Schiavone, Marie Toohey, Barbara Wilson, Sharon Wunderlich, and Jean Mailhot. The expert woodworker, Romeo Croteau, has been making a set of parallel bars for the gym.

Mark: On the plane, actually it was on the life raft in the harbor, I met Tom Ribillard, who was planning to visit Russia. Tom said that he had met Betty Ann Dublin, Kathy Eichhorn, Doreen Enus, and Claire Faerber at the airport in London. Apparently they saved their money and went on a safari in the Belgian Congo; however, the only thing they shot was a poor pygmy who accidentally got in the way. Florence Gagne, Lee Crane, and Melvina Gabor were seen boarding a TWA plane for India to visit the Taj Mahal.

Holly: A lot has been happening around here lately. Mia Cheney and Elaine Comparone, the Psychiatrists, have been treating Reverend Leo Root. He constantly tears up money and makes puzzles out of the pieces. Mary Chiarenza recently lost her position as an IBM operator after she was caught helping out Charlie Morris, and John Archanbault, the bookmakers, with their little business. Their telephone answerers and secretaries Donna Anderson, Marilyn Barry, Betty Maggio, Marjorie Incollingo, Dolores Kady, Constance Norton, and Theresa Mulcahy are now out of work for a short period of time. Art Boren and Tom Jenkins, in their new car, were attempting to break the ground speed record on route 93, when state troopers Henry Carpenito and Tom Gallagher happened to see them flying by. The fuel-injected Chrysler engined go-cart, designed by Allen Aghoian, Robert Kilcoyne, and Carl Wellman, three excellent mechanical engineers, is being kept in top condition by Richard Bohne, Mike D'Arezzo, Arthur Sarcione, and Bernard Sheehy. Kippy Chadwick is leaving a water ski show at Cypress Gardens, where he paints boats, to come to our tenth year class reunion in two weeks. Vin Cottone, the chiropractor, who attempted to set John Brain's dislocated arms, legs, and back after John slipped with the weights while attempting a new weight lifting record, will also be here. Gary Perry and Mike Watman, the mathematicians who run Lawrence Welk's bubble machine part-time work, are also planning to come to the reunion.

Mark: I guess quite a few things have happened since I've been away. Just recently I received a letter from Eddy Lemieux, the meteorologist. He said that he has been instructing Don Kent and Jane Day on a newer method of plotting hurricanes, the guess method, not too accurate, but a lot more exciting. In his letter Eddy informed me that Richard Perrault, Carol Pomphret, William Dewan, and Betty Ann Bardsley are planning to open an enormous drug store. Walter Barrett is in charge of the construction. Ed also told me that George Sabbagh, who visited Debbie Bovernick's lab, blew up half the block with an unsuccessful experiment. A couple of salesmen, Walter Nortor and Victor Nastasia, on the same block won't be seen in that neighborhood anymore. This letter also mentioned that Lucy Coltraro, Carol Rourke, Phyllis Blazonis, and Alice Brothers, who work in the office next door, telephoned the Army and Generals John Jacobs and Jeffery Strovink took 1500 men to rope off the entire area because of radio-active fallout.

Holly: Yes, that surely was an exciting day. Foresters Herb Jones and Don Paduchowski reported fourteen forest fires caused by flaming debris. Robert J. St. Onge, who was selling insurance on the same black, sold forty policies. William Cyr, a happy bachelor, bought four policies. Louise Beaulieu insured her red T-bird for twice its cost. Freddy Lustenberger and Mal Call decided it was safer to leave for Alaska. George Wade joined the Foreign Legion, and John Tobia stepped into his time machine and left for the twilight zone. Polly Ann Sanborn, who always wanted to travel, decided that there couldn't be a more perfect time to get away from it all.

Mark: In a recent letter from Dick Worthington I learned that he, Charles Ashford, Jim Elliott, Rick Grelle, Richard Roberts, and Richard Tokawitz are all serving in the Air Force. Dick also informed me that Frank Morgan is a Naval officer and Ron Bretton, Joe Charest, Donald Cooper, Robert A. Sr. Onge, Robert Stella, and Bob Wespiser are also serving in that branch of the service. By the way, did many of the girls settle down and get married?

Holly: Yes, quite a few are happily married: Shirley Janoski, Marie Lombarli, Jane Benson, Jeanne Kozdra, Betty Buca, Nancy Carr, Carol Finegan, Eileen Middlemiss, Alice Patch, Mary Jane Riley, Nancy Rudis, and Linda Van Annan. Did you know that a new industrial center has just been built in Methuen? Maurice Beaulieu, David Burke, John Fox, Leo Polizotti, and Dennis O'Connel are in the electronics department. I hope they recover from those bad electrical burns. Dick Hertrich, George Renny, Doug Lumb, and Bob McDermott were the chief engineeds in charge of the project. Their secretaries are Ginny Burgess, Donna Finethy, Lynn Scott, Diane Grenda, Brenda Hajjar, Janet Kolifrath, and Barbara Dube.

Mark: C'mon, Holly, let's go or we'll be late. You're never on time.

Holly: You're right! We should get started so that you can see how everything has changed. I know the family will be happy to see you.

Class Will

We, the members of the Senior Class of Tenney High School, being af saund mind and body, da hereby make this last will and testament.

We, the senior members of the Astronomy Club, leave the maon, the stars and the planets to all future Tenney High Schoal stargazers.
